

Psalm 56:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

In God will I praise his word: in the LORD will I praise his word.

Analysis

The repetition of verse 4 with 'LORD' (YHWH) replacing 'God' intensifies the covenant dimension. Praising both God's 'word' and the LORD's 'word' emphasizes Scripture's divine origin. Trust in YHWH specifically invokes Israel's covenant name for God, grounding confidence in particular historical promises rather than generic theism.

Historical Context

The use of both Elohim (God) and YHWH (LORD) is characteristic of psalmic poetry, emphasizing different aspects of God's character—His universal sovereignty and His particular covenant faithfulness to Israel respectively.
