

Psalms 57:4

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

My soul is among lions: and I lie even among them that are set on fire, even the sons of men, whose teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongue a sharp sword.

Analysis

The imagery of dwelling 'among them that are set on fire' uses the metaphor of lions and beasts of prey with incendiary weapons. This hyperbolic language captures the intensity of opposition while demonstrating that God preserves His elect even in the furnace. The Hebrew 'lahat' (flame/burn) connects to Daniel's fiery furnace, showing God's presence in, not removal from, extremity.

Historical Context

Lions were literal threats in ancient Palestine's wilderness, making this imagery vivid. The metaphorical extension to human enemies emphasizes their predatory and destructive nature, particularly Saul's relentless pursuit of David.

Study Questions

1. How does God's preservation in the midst of danger differ from deliverance out of it?

2. What does it mean that the righteous may be 'set on fire' yet not consumed?
