

Psalm 58:9

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Before your pots can feel the thorns, he shall take them away as with a whirlwind, both living, and in his wrath.

Analysis

The difficult Hebrew of this verse likely depicts swift judgment—before pots feel thorns' heat, God's wrath sweeps away the wicked like a whirlwind. The imagery is sudden, unexpected judgment. The contrast between 'living' and 'wrath' may indicate judgment falling on the wicked during their prosperity, not just posthumously.

Historical Context

Thorns were common fuel for cooking fires in ancient Palestine, burning hot but quickly. The image suggests that before the wicked's plans come to fruition (pots boil), God's judgment intervenes, as with the Tower of Babel (Genesis 11:1-9).
