

Psalm 59:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For, lo, they lie in wait for my soul: the mighty are gathered against me; not for my transgression, nor for my sin, O LORD.

Analysis

David's innocence claim 'not for my transgression, nor for my sin' demonstrates that suffering isn't always punitive. The Hebrew 'pesha' (transgression/rebellion) and 'chatta'ah' (sin/missing the mark) cover all categories of offense. David faces persecution despite righteousness, prefiguring Christ who suffered 'not for his own sins' but for ours (1 Peter 2:22-24).

Historical Context

This verse addresses the false charges Saul leveled against David. Despite Jonathan's defense (1 Samuel 19:4-5) and David's proven loyalty, Saul persisted in murderous intent, demonstrating that righteousness doesn't guarantee earthly justice.
