

Psalms 65:13

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The pastures are clothed with flocks; the valleys also are covered over with corn; they shout for joy, they also sing.

Analysis

Pastures 'clothed' with flocks and valleys 'covered' with corn depicts creation adorned in productivity. The final image of creation shouting and singing demonstrates that nature itself praises God through fulfilling its purpose. This anticipates Romans 8:19-22 where creation groans awaiting redemption, and Psalm 96:11-12 where trees and fields rejoice.

Historical Context

The imagery draws on Israel's landscape of pastoral hills (sheep) and agricultural valleys (grain). This comprehensive picture—animal husbandry and agriculture—represents total economic life depending on God's blessing.
