

Psalms 65:8

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

They also that dwell in the uttermost parts are afraid at thy tokens: thou makest the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice.

Analysis

Those dwelling in earth's 'uttermost parts' fearing God's signs (tokens) shows that creation's testimony reaches all. 'Morning and evening to rejoice' indicates God's blessings span all time—dawn and dusk represent totality. This anticipates Psalm 19's teaching that creation declares God's glory universally (Psalm 19:1-4).

Historical Context

The reference to earth's 'uttermost parts' encompasses all nations beyond Israel, showing God's works testify globally. Morning and evening represent the full daily cycle, indicating continuous blessing and reason for praise.

Study Questions

1. How do God's works in creation serve as universal testimony to His character?
2. What does continuous reason for rejoicing (morning and evening) teach about cultivating gratitude?
