

Psalms 68:23

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

That thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thine enemies, and the tongue of thy dogs in the same.

Analysis

The graphic imagery of feet dipped in blood and dogs licking enemies' blood depicts complete military victory. While unsettling, this language emphasizes total triumph over evil. In ancient warfare, such imagery signified decisive, irreversible defeat. Spiritually, it points to Christ's absolute victory over sin, death, and Satan—a victory so complete that His enemies are made His footstool (Psalm 110:1, Hebrews 10:13).

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern warfare included such graphic victory imagery. While disturbing to modern readers, it honestly portrayed the stakes of conflict between God's kingdom and evil powers opposing Him.
