

Psalms 70:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Let them be ashamed and confounded that seek after my soul:
let them be turned backward, and put to confusion, that desire my hurt.

Analysis

---

The imprecatory prayer for enemies to be 'ashamed and confounded' seeks their defeat and humiliation. 'Turned backward' means routed in battle. 'Put to confusion' depicts total disarray. These prayers aren't personal vengeance but appeals for God's justice against those opposing His purposes. Such psalms anticipate final judgment on impenitent evil (Revelation 19:11-21) while modeling how to process anger righteously—bringing it to God rather than taking revenge (Romans 12:19).

Historical Context

Psalms 70 parallels Psalm 40:13-17, a cry for help against enemies. In David's context, personal enemies often opposed God's anointed king, making attacks on David attacks on God's purposes.
