

Psalms 78:29

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gave them their own desire;

Analysis

---

So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gave them their own desire—the Hebrew sāba' (well filled) means satiated to excess, stuffed beyond satisfaction. God gave them ta'āwātām (their desire), the same word for 'lust' in v. 18. This verse captures the tragedy of getting exactly what you want when what you want is poisonous.

Proverbs 23:2 warns: 'Put a knife to your throat if you are given to appetite.' Jesus taught that life doesn't consist in abundance of possessions (Luke 12:15). Paul calls the stomach 'their god' for those who mind earthly things (Philippians 3:19). Israel's filled bellies revealed empty souls—they ate themselves to death, proving Augustine's maxim: 'Thou hast made us for thyself, O Lord, and our hearts are restless until they find their rest in thee.'

Historical Context

The phrase 'their own desire' indicts Israel's self-determination. God gave them precisely what they demanded, without editing or improvement. This divine 'yes' to fleshly appetite resulted in mass graves, proving that God sometimes judges by granting requests.

Study Questions

1. What desires are you pursuing that, if fully satisfied, might destroy you?
2. How does consumer culture's promise of satisfaction through consumption mirror Israel's fatal craving?
