

Psalms 78:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For he established a testimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should make them known to their children:

Analysis

The psalm establishes God's law: "For he established a testimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should make them known to their children" (Hebrew va-yaqem edut b-Ya-aqov v-torah sam b-Yisra-el asher tzivvah et-avoteynu l-hodi-am liv-neyhem). "Testimony" (Hebrew eduth) and "law" (Hebrew torah) indicate God's revealed will. The intergenerational command is explicit: fathers must teach children. This establishes Scripture's authority and transmission pattern. Faith depends on faithful teaching.

Historical Context

God gave the law at Sinai (Exodus 20-24) with explicit commands for parental instruction (Deuteronomy 6:4-9, 11:18-21). The pattern: God reveals, parents teach, children receive and transmit. When this breaks (Judges 2:10), apostasy follows. The synagogue system developed to formalize this teaching. Jesus and Paul continued this pattern (Matthew 28:19-20, 2 Timothy 2:2).

Study Questions

1. How are you fulfilling the command to "make known" God's truth to the next generation?
2. What happens when a generation fails to transmit faith to children?
3. How does Scripture itself function as the "testimony" and "law" passed from generation to generation?
