

Psalm 81:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

I am the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it.

Analysis

God declares His identity and Israel's obligation: "I am the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt" (Hebrew Anoki YHWH Eloheykha ha-ma'alkha me-eretz Mitzrayim). This echoes the First Commandment (Exodus 20:2), establishing redemption as the basis for worship. "Open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it" (Hebrew harchev pikha va-amale'ehu) is a stunning invitation—God promises abundant provision to those who depend wholly on Him. The opened mouth symbolizes faith's receptivity, trust expressed in petition rather than self-sufficiency.

Historical Context

This verse recalls the Exodus, the foundational redemptive event establishing Israel's relationship with YHWH. The wilderness generation experienced God's provision of manna, quail, and water from rock (Exodus 16-17). The invitation to "open thy mouth wide" promises that dependence on God yields greater satisfaction than autonomy.
