

Psalms 87:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The LORD shall count, when he writeth up the people, that this man was born there. Selah.

Analysis

The psalm continues: "The LORD shall count, when he writeth up the people, that this man was born there" (Hebrew YHWH yis-por bikh-tov amim zeh yullad-sham). God "counts" and "writes"—maintaining a register of citizens. "This man was born there" is recorded for each individual. The image is the book of life (Exodus 32:32-33, Psalm 69:28, Philippians 4:3, Revelation 20:12-15). Citizenship in God's kingdom is documented, permanent, secured. The verse assures believers their names are written in heaven.

Historical Context

Ancient cities maintained citizenship rolls. Roman censuses recorded citizens (Luke 2:1-5). But God's register is ultimate—determining eternal destiny. Jesus told disciples to rejoice that their "names are written in heaven" (Luke 10:20). Hebrews 12:23 describes believers as enrolled in heaven. The book of life determines who enters New Jerusalem (Revelation 21:27). This census matters eternally.

Study Questions

1. What assurance does having your name written in God's book provide?
2. How does divine record-keeping emphasize the personal, individual nature of salvation?
3. On what basis are names written in the Lamb's book of life (Revelation 13:8), and how does this secure salvation?
