

Psalms 9:2

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will sing praise to thy name, O thou most High.

Analysis

This verse expresses complete joy and devotion to God. 'Be glad' (Hebrew 'samach') and 'rejoice' (Hebrew 'gil') are near synonyms emphasizing wholehearted delight. 'In thee' shows the proper object of joy - not circumstances but God Himself. 'Sing praise to thy name' connects worship to God's revealed character (His name). 'Most High' (Hebrew 'Elyon') emphasizes God's sovereignty and supremacy. This verse models theocentric joy - finding ultimate satisfaction in God's character and presence rather than gifts or circumstances.

Historical Context

This acrostic psalm celebrates God's victory over enemies. The title suggests it may relate to a specific deliverance. The emphasis on God's name and supremacy reflects Israel's monotheistic worship distinguishing them from polytheistic neighbors. Praising God's name meant celebrating His covenant character and faithfulness.
