

Psalm 9:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

When mine enemies are turned back, they shall fall and perish at thy presence.

Analysis

The basis for praise is God's decisive action against enemies. 'Turned back' depicts military defeat and retreat. 'Fall and perish at thy presence' emphasizes that God's mere appearing is enough to defeat enemies - no elaborate military campaign needed. The Hebrew 'panim' (presence/face) suggests God's active attention and intervention. This teaches that battles belong to the Lord - His presence determines victory. Ultimately fulfilled in Christ's death and resurrection which defeated all spiritual enemies.

Historical Context

This likely commemorates a specific military victory where God routed Israel's enemies. The language echoes the Exodus (Pharaoh's army), conquest battles (Jericho), and David's victories. The pattern of God fighting for His people runs throughout redemptive history, climaxing in Christ's victory over sin, death, and Satan.
