

Psalms 94:1

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

O LORD God, to whom vengeance belongeth; O God, to whom vengeance belongeth, shew thyself.

Analysis

This imprecatory psalm appeals to God as 'the God to whom vengeance belongeth' (El neqamot—literally 'God of vengeance'), using the plural to intensify the concept. The call for God to 'shew thyself' (hofa) requests visible manifestation of His justice. The dual address to 'O LORD God' and repetition of 'shew thyself' creates urgency and intensity. This verse establishes that vengeance belongs to God alone (Deuteronomy 32:35, Romans 12:19), not to human agents, while affirming that God will actively judge evil.

Historical Context

Written during a time of oppression, likely when Israel faced persecution from wicked rulers or foreign powers, this psalm voices the cry of the oppressed for divine intervention.
