

Romans 11:22

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off.

Analysis

Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God—chrēstotēta kai apotomia theou (χρηστότητα καὶ ἀποτομίαν θεοῦ). The word chrēstotēs (χρηστότης, "goodness/kindness") and apotomia (ἀποτομία, "severity/sharpness") present God's dual character: merciful yet just. Paul calls Gentiles to behold (ide, ἴδε), to contemplate both aspects simultaneously. On them which fell, severity—unbelieving Israel experienced apotomia, God's sharp judgment. But toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness—Gentiles experience chrēstotēs, but conditionally.

The condition: if thou continue in his goodness (ean epimenēs tē chrēstotēti, εἰὰν ἐπιμένῃς τῇ χρηστότητι). The verb epimenō (ἐπιμένω) means to remain, continue, persevere. Perseverance in faith is necessary. The warning: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off (epei kai sy ekkopēsē, ἐπεὶ καὶ σὺ ἐκκοπήσῃ). Corporate Israel was "cut off" for unbelief; Gentile Christianity faces the same risk if it abandons faith for pride and presumption.

Historical Context

Church history demonstrates this warning's validity. When Gentile Christianity became triumphalistic, self-righteous, and apostate, God's judgment fell (the Reformation addressed medieval corruption; liberal churches today experience decline). God's severity is as real as His goodness.

Study Questions

1. How do we hold together God's goodness and severity without diminishing either attribute?
2. What does it mean to 'continue in His goodness'—is this about works or faith?
3. How does this warning against corporate apostasy differ from (or relate to) the doctrine of eternal security for individuals?
