

Romans 9:23

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he had afore prepared unto glory,

Analysis

And that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he had afore prepared unto glory—the purpose clause: God's ultimate aim is to display to ploutos tēs doxēs autou (τὸ πλοῦτος τῆς δόξης αὐτοῦ, 'the riches of his glory'). Skeuē eleous (σκεύη ἐλέους, 'vessels of mercy') contrasts with 'vessels of wrath' (v. 22). These God proētoimasen (προητοίμασεν, 'prepared beforehand')—clearly divine initiative in election.

The contrast is telling: wrath-vessels are 'fitted' (ambiguous agency); mercy-vessels are 'prepared beforehand' by God. This asymmetry reflects Reformed theology's insight: God actively elects to salvation; he passes over to just condemnation. Election is unconditional grace; reprobation is just judgment on sin. Both display God's glory: mercy magnifies grace; wrath magnifies holiness and justice. The ultimate purpose of all history—election and reprobation alike—is the manifestation of God's manifold glory.

Historical Context

Ephesians 1:4-6 teaches God chose us 'before the foundation of the world...to the praise of the glory of his grace.' All of redemptive history—creation, fall, election, redemption, consummation—aims at displaying God's glory in the highest degree possible. Both mercy and justice contribute to that display.

Study Questions

1. How does the contrast between 'fitted' (v. 22) and 'prepared beforehand' (v. 23) illuminate God's different relationships to wrath and mercy?
2. What are 'the riches of his glory' that God displays through mercy-vessels?
3. How does understanding that your salvation displays God's glory (not your merit) transform worship and humility?
