

Romans 9:32

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law. For they stumbled at that stumblingstone;

Analysis

Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law—Paul answers his question: dia ti (διὰ τί, 'for what reason?'). The contrast: ouk ek pisteōs all' hōs ex ergōn (οὐκ ἐκ πίστεως ἀλλ' ὥς ἐξ ἔργων)—'not from faith but as from works.' The phrase hōs (ὥς, 'as it were/as if') suggests treating the law as though it were a merit-system, which it never was. The law demands perfect obedience (Galatians 3:10) but provides no power to obey. Faith receives Christ's perfect righteousness as a gift.

For they stumbled at that stumblingstone—prosekopsan tō lithō tou proskommatos (προσέκοψαν τῷ λίθῳ τοῦ προσκόμματος). The verb suggests striking one's foot against an obstacle. The 'stone' is Christ (v. 33)—the very one meant to save became the occasion of their downfall. Because they approached by works, not faith, Christ's demand for unconditional surrender offended them. They wanted a Messiah to validate their righteousness, not expose its bankruptcy.

Historical Context

The stumbling-stone imagery comes from Isaiah 8:14, 28:16 (quoted in v. 33). Jesus identified himself as the rejected stone (Matthew 21:42). Peter echoed this (1 Peter 2:6-8). The stone that should be a foundation becomes a stumbling-block to those approaching in unbelief. Israel's tragedy was not ignorance but hardness—they had the oracles but rejected the Word made flesh.

Study Questions

1. How does approaching God 'by works' rather than 'by faith' turn Christ from Savior into stumbling-block?
2. What is the relationship between works-righteousness and being offended by Christ's gospel?
3. Why does religious performance produce pride that makes submission to Christ (justification by faith alone) repugnant?
