

Titus 3:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

All that are with me salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Analysis

All that are with me salute thee—ἀσπάζονται σε οἱ μετ' ἐμοῦ πάντες (aspazontai se hoi met emou pantes, greet you all those with me)—Paul's missionary team sends corporate greeting. Greet them that love us in the faith (ἄσπασαι τοὺς φιλοῦντας ἡμᾶς ἐν πίστει, aspasai tous philountas hēmas en pistei) —φιλέω (phileō, affectionate love) ἐν πίστει (en pistei, in/by faith). Christian love operates within faith community, grounded in shared gospel belief.

Grace be with you all. Amen (ἡ χάρις μετὰ πάντων ὑμῶν. ἀμήν, hē charis meta pantōn hymōn. amēn)—Paul's characteristic closing: χάρις (charis, grace), the letter's beginning (1:4) and end. Grace is Christianity's alpha and omega—the gift of God from start to finish. ἀμήν (amēn, truly/so be it) affirms all preceding truth. The plural ὑμῶν (hymōn, you all) addresses the entire Cretan church, not just Titus.

Historical Context

Ancient letters followed formulaic patterns: greeting, body, closing. Paul Christianizes the form: grace and peace opening, theological content, practical application, grace closing. The personal greetings demonstrate early Christianity's relational networks spanning the Roman world—believers united by shared faith transcending ethnic and geographic boundaries.

Study Questions

1. Do you love fellow believers "in the faith"—grounded in shared gospel belief versus mere natural affinity?
2. How does beginning and ending in grace shape your entire Christian life and ministry?
3. What closing benedictions and greetings can you speak over others, blessing them with gospel realities?
