

Zechariah 1:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then the angel of the LORD answered and said, O LORD of hosts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which thou hast had indignation these threescore and ten years?

Analysis

The Angel of the LORD's response to the report: 'O LORD of hosts, how long wilt thou not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which thou hast had indignation these threescore and ten years?' This identifies the Angel as distinct from Yahweh yet interceding with Him—supporting the Angel's identification as pre-incarnate Christ. The 'how long' expresses the proper concern over delayed restoration. The seventy years marks Jeremiah's prophecy (Jer. 25:11-12), now complete. The Angel's intercession demonstrates Christ's ongoing priestly ministry for His people.

Historical Context

The seventy years spanned from Jerusalem's destruction (586 BC) to this vision (520 BC), though Jeremiah's prophecy allowed various computation methods. The exile period had ended with Cyrus's decree (538 BC), but full restoration remained incomplete. The temple lay unfinished; Jerusalem's walls remained broken. God's 'indignation' (divine wrath) had accomplished its purpose; the time for mercy had come.

Study Questions

1. How does the Angel of the LORD's intercession prefigure Christ's present intercession for us (Rom. 8:34; Heb. 7:25)?
2. What does the completion of seventy years teach us about God's precise fulfillment of prophetic timeframes?
