

Zechariah 2:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And, behold, the angel that talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him,

Analysis

And, behold, the angel that talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him. The narrative introduces multiple angelic figures coordinating to deliver God's message. Hamal'akh asher dover bi (הַמַּלְאָךְ אֲשֶׁר דִּבֶּר בִּי, the angel who talked with me) is Zechariah's interpreting angel who guides him through the visions. Mal'akh acher (מַלְאָךְ אֲחֵר, another angel) goes out to intercept the first angel with urgent instructions.

The phrase "went forth" and "went out to meet him" depicts purposeful, urgent communication. The second angel has a message that must interrupt the measuring activity—human plans must yield to divine revelation. This angelic choreography demonstrates organized heavenly administration—angels coordinate, carry messages, and ensure prophets receive accurate divine communication.

The scene emphasizes that revelation comes through divinely appointed channels, not human speculation. Zechariah doesn't interpret visions independently; angels mediate understanding. This models dependence on divine illumination for grasping spiritual truth—we need God's messengers (Scripture, the Holy Spirit) to understand His purposes.

Historical Context

Post-exilic prophecy frequently features angelic mediators more prominently than pre-exilic prophecy. This may reflect increased emphasis on God's transcendence after the exile—He remains accessible but maintains holy distance through intermediaries. The organized angelic hierarchy (interpreting angels, messenger angels) demonstrates orderly divine revelation.

The urgency of the second angel interrupting suggests God's message cannot wait. Before human measurements constrain expectations, God must declare His plans. This reflects His pastoral care—He doesn't let His people limit themselves to human assessments but immediately expands their vision to divine proportions.

Related Passages

Romans 2:1 — Judging others

Matthew 25:31 — Final judgment

Study Questions

1. How does the coordinated activity of multiple angels delivering God's message assure you of the reliability and care in divine revelation?
2. What does the urgency of interrupting human measuring to deliver divine promises teach about God's eagerness to exceed our expectations?
3. When you engage in planning or assessment, how do you remain open to divine interruptions that redirect or expand your vision?

Interlinear Text

וְהִנֵּה הַ	וַמֵּלֶכֶת הַ	הַדֹּבֵר הַ	בִּי	יָצָא	וַמֵּלֶכֶת הַ
H2009	And behold the angel	that talked	H0	went out	And behold the angel
	H4397	H1696		H3318	H4397
אֲחֵר	יָצָא	לִקְרֹאתוֹ:
and another	went out	to meet
H312	H3318	H7125

Additional Cross-References

Zechariah 1:19 (Parallel theme): And I said unto the angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.