

The Ninth Commandment

Duties Toward Others · The Ten Commandments

The ninth commandment protects truth and reputation. Originally addressing testimony in legal proceedings, it extends to all communication: lying, slander, gossip, and deception of any kind. False witness destroys reputations, perverts justice, and undermines social trust. Positively, this commandment requires truthfulness in all speech, defending others' good names, and speaking the truth in love. Satan is the father of lies; God's people must be children of truth.
